Today, Larry D. Gonzales announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Texas House of Representatives, District 52. HD 52 is contained completely within Williamson County and includes large portions of Round Rock and Georgetown and the cities of Hutto, Taylor, and Thrall, and the communities of Anderson Mill, Jollyville and Brushy Creek. A small portion of Austin is also in the district.

Larry Gonzales has dedicated his entire professional career to making Texas a better place to live, work and raise a family. A strong conservative, his extensive legislative experience and knowledge of the issues facing our state will make him an effective leader for the citizens of Williamson County.

“Texas faces critical challenges in educating our children and growing our economy while keeping a tight rein on government spending and taxes,” Gonzales stated. “My legislative and practical experience in both public education and higher education, together with my understanding of the business community’s needs in the district, uniquely qualifies me to serve as State Representative.”

Gonzales is a 13-year resident of HD 52 and a seasoned veteran of the Texas Legislature, having worked nine regular legislative sessions and 4 special legislative sessions for members of the House, the Lt. Governor and Attorney General.

Most recently Gonzales served as Assistant Vice Chancellor for Governmental Relations for the Texas State University System (TSUS) as a liaison to the Texas

Legislature and other state agencies for the TSUS Board of Regents, the System and its component institutions. In addition, Gonzales is the owner of a communications company which offers a wide range of services including creative design, polling, and mediation.

“Make no mistake,” Gonzales stated, “the race for HD 52 will be won by the candidate who best understands our district and is able to tackle the challenges facing our schools and our economy.”

“My broad base of experience — as a legislative staffer, a small business owner, husband and a father — combined with my long-time residency in the district and knowledge of the issues facing Texas, makes me the most qualified candidate to win this seat in November 2010,” Gonzales said.

Gonzales earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Government from the University of Texas at Austin in 1993, is scheduled to complete his Master’s degree in Public Administration from Texas State University – San Marcos in 2010, and is a certified mediator.
