Round Rock – Larry Gonzales, Republican Candidate for State Representative, is honored to accept the endorsement of former opponent Stephen Casey. Today, Mr. Casey thanked the many people who served, encouraged, supported, and donated to his run for State Representative, House District 52. “It pushed a bit further the message of Servant Leadership, and I have no regrets,” said Mr. Casey.

“I strongly endorse Larry Gonzales for the runoff in Texas House District 52,” said Casey. “Having the opportunity and privilege to get to know him through this campaign cycle I have found a habit for Larry to put others first and to disagree in an agreeable manner. It is refreshing to find those qualities in a candidate, especially in an area where ego often trumps a charitable attitude.”

Casey added, “Larry’s character in the community, combined with knowledge of the issues, will serve District 52 well in the next legislative session.”

“First, I want to thank Stephen, his wife Noreen, and their family for the sacrifice of making the race and for their strong conservative leadership to Williamson County,” said Gonzales. “I have truly enjoyed getting to know the Casey family - not just as a candidate, but as friends. Stephen and his entire organization were always friendly, approachable, and greeted me with a handshake and a smile.

“His grassroots campaign is admirable – they worked very hard and with a strong conviction. Stephen always remained solid on conservative issues throughout the campaign. I look forward to working with Stephen in this runoff election.

“I want to welcome his supporters to my team and I look forward to representing them in the same conservative way Stephen did throughout his campaign. Together we can keep Texas strong and free.”

Stephen Casey is the third former Republican candidate in House District 52 to endorse Larry Gonzales. Both Ralph Pina and James Bernsen offered their endorsement last Fall and chose not to file for office but instead support Larry Gonzales.
